

Fall 2004
Scottsdale, Arizona

Press Release:

The Four Seasons Resort and The Trail of Painted Ponies have formed a wonderful Cultural Partnership that brings the beauty and magic of the original works of art from The Trail to guests of the resort. This entire season, a breathtaking life-size Painted Pony titled, Unity, has been exhibited in front of the Four Seasons. This monumental sculpture is covered entirely with beads, applied one at a time by hand, by the artist Georges Monfils. This Pony has been nominated for the Guinness Book of World Records.

Recently, this work of art was purchased by Peggy and Bill King of Stanley New Mexico. The majority of the proceeds from the sale of Unity went to support Futures for Children, a New Mexico non-profit organization that is dedicated to quality education for American Indian Children (www.futuresforchildren.org). The Trail of Painted Ponies is delighted to continue its commitment to supporting worthy philanthropic organizations.

The Four Seasons Resort and The Trail of Painted Ponies are dedicated to bringing artistic excellence to Arizona.