The Trail of Painted Ponies – Night Flower

Take the sting out of winter's chill with this beautiful new 2009 release from The Trail of Painted Ponies, entitled "Night Flower." Peonies bloom profusely in early June when the soft summer sky is dark and alive with stars and a new moon. Their huge pale flowers, nestled in deep-green leaves, glow with spectacular beauty at that time. With "Night Flower," artist and garden enthusiast Marianne Hornbuckle, has created a Painted Pony that becomes one with the peonies as she wanders through the magic of a summer garden at night.

Made of ceramic, "Night Flower" retails for $29.95. It will be available to ship around mid-February. For more information, visit www.trailofpaintedponies.com.
