THE TRAIL OF PAINTED PONIES

Voodoo

Artist/Sculptor: Kathleen Moody

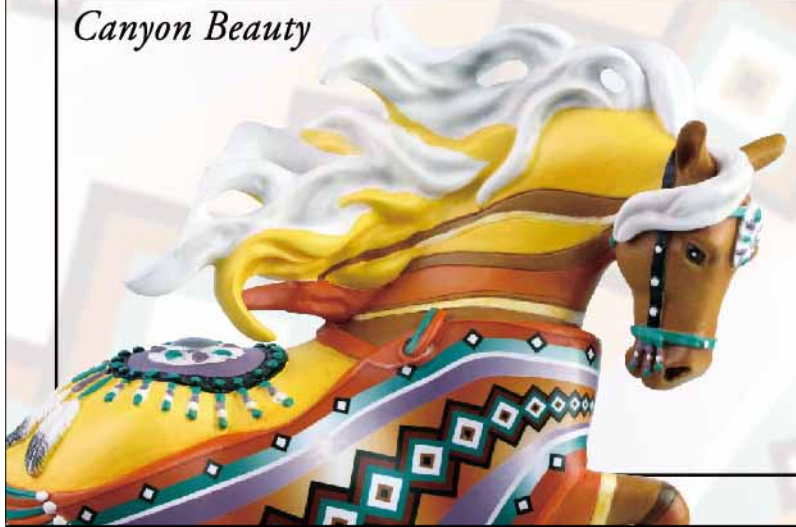

Competition between stallions for mares on the wild horse range of the Sand Wash Basin can be brutal, and the battle between Picasso, a gorgeous pinto featured in The Trail's Summer 2019 release, and Voodoo, a single stallion that had lost his band, for the attention of a young filly, led to continual fighting. By early summer Voodoo had prevailed, but his victory was short-lived. On August 21, 2018 he was found with a broken leg and humanely euthanized. True story. In his memory, and in acknowledgement of the rivalry between these two spirited stallions, The Trail has created this companion piece to "Dance of the Mustang."

Canyon Beauty

THE TRAIL OF PAINTED PONIES

Canyon Beauty

Artist: Cheryl A. Harris

"Canyon Beauty" is an artistic celebration of the Native Tribes that inhabited and passed through the brilliantly colored, otherworldly formations of Indian Country in the Southwest. From towering buff-colored cliffs rising out of the canyons of Canyon de Chelly, to the gleaming domes of Utah's Capitol Reef, to the natural sandstone arches of red rock country, these one-of-a-kind landscapes were an artistic inspiration for the Hopi, Navajo, Zuni and Ute tribes.

THE TRAIL OF
PAINTED PONIES

Night Ranger

Artist: Iana Moczar

There's nothing quite like exploring the world on its oldest form of transportation. Wilderness landscapes, wide-open prairies, sagebrush hillsides, mountain meadows and river valleys are best experienced on horseback. It's a perspective that was enjoyed by those who rode across the American West when it was trackless backcountry. "Night Ranger" is an artistic nod to the moonlight rides under a star-roofed night sky that were a familiar part of a cowboy's life.

The stars on "Night Ranger" glow in the dark. To learn more about the artist and this Painted Pony, visit: www.paintedponies.com.

Pony on Parade

THE TRAIL OF PAINTED PONIES

Pony on Parade

Artist: Julie Kamath

Parade horses have a rich and colorful history. They are all about flash, flair and eye-catching style, which is why they are as big a crowd-pleaser as marching bands and floats. "Pony on Parade" - elaborately decorated with a beautifully hand-crafted western saddle and bridle, with brightly colored ribbons added to the mane and tail, and moving proudly in a high-prancing "parade gait," - is The Trail of Painted Ponies' entry into this honorable tradition.

Sea Stallion

THE TRAIL OF PAINTED PONIES

Sea Stallion

Artist: Christopher Paskert

Ancient mariners believed that when Poseidon, the moody mythical Greek God of the Sea, stirred the oceans into storms with his fury, that the waves crashing on the shores were pulled by horses with fish tails. "Sea Stallion," the color of the sea and adorned with treasures claimed from Poseidon's jeweled palace under the sea, stands ready for his Master's call.
